

What is this... by Didier Mervilde

Recently I received a message from India about a “new” mutation in Fischeri. When I asked for more information about the parents the breeder sent me a picture of a pair Personatus. So the “mutation” was not Fischeri but Personatus. Like you can notice the bird is probably a modification and not a new mutation. Anyway , I keep in contact with the breeder and if he gives me more information you will see it on my webpages.
